

NOFA/Mass conducts the seven-state Northeast Organic Farming Association's Summer Conference. The 2017 conference will mark the 43rd year for this event, packed with educational workshops, dynamic vendors and delicious organic and locally-grown food, served by the Hampshire College's award-winning chefs. Save the dates for this incredible event: August 11-13, 2017.

Each year, more than 1,200 people attend, many with their entire families. The conference typically features more than 200 workshops, a children's conference, an old-fashioned country fair, a farmers' market, a raffle, and live auction.
